

THE PIPELINE

ChemEngSoc Newsletter #6

Wednesday 11th January 2017

Welcome Back

2017.

Who's excited.

Not David Bowie, Prince or Alan Rickman.

RIP.

“Everyday, it gets a little easier. But you gotta do it everyday. That’s the hard part. But it does get easier.”

- The Jogger, Jason Beghe, Bojack Horseman

■ Obituaries used (January 1 to March 31)

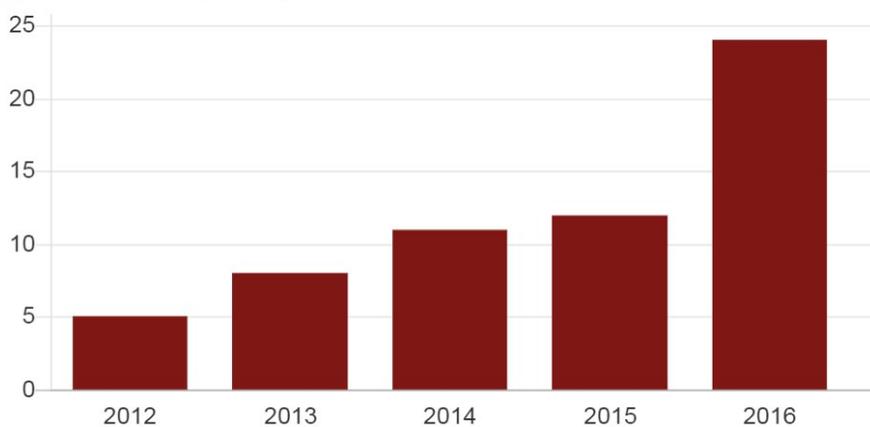

Figure 1: Fun Infographic Provided by BBC Demonstrates Morbid Year

In This Issue:

- ChemEngSoc Events Calendar
- Really Not Much Else

ChemEngSoc Spring Calendar

Alumni Speed Dating - 12/01/17

Most of you will never get a date during your time at Imperial. This is your chance to have many at once. With professionals.

This great event will allow you to network with a whole bunch of chemical engineers from this department who work in a wide range of industries.

Nibbles and drink included.

Lic Cocktail Enterprise Lab - 26/01/17

You've probably heard of these budding entrepreneurs from Imperial Chemical Engineering. Using their degree knowledge they developed a way to freeze cocktails so you can get w a v e y at the beach.

They're coming back for one night and one night only to give a presentation and workshop on how to be a baller/entrepreneur,

"Tasters" included (hopefully).

Frank Morton - 16/02/17

Big daddy FM.

More details to come soon.

Alumni Dinner - 23/02/17

For the first time ever we are hosting an evening meal with alumni from the department.

Heavily subsidised tickets. More details to follow.

Talent Show - 02/03/17

My personal favourite event of the year. If you've got a talent, you can perform! Otherwise come along and have a great time.

Tickets will sell out.

Annual Dinner - 24/03/17

You know what it is.

Word has it this years venue is the swankiest yet.

The Chem Eng Soc Catalogue

FRESH NEW SPRING GARMS COMING SOON

MUGS ARE AVAILABLE RIGHT NOW £££

Contact Your Regalia Officer Sorcha Begley to get yours before stocks run out!!!

sorcha.begley15@imperial.ac.uk

